

Dadanastad'a
Sizi Kendall Manyhorses at'a,
I am the Community Comprehensive Plan (CCP) technician

The Community Comprehensive Plan (CCP) is a living document that will help build a unified understanding of where Tsúut'ínà is and where it collectively wants to move towards in the future. The spirit of the CCP is to build a vision of the future that incorporates the Tsúut'ínà language, ways of knowing, goals, and objectives that come from our people and will benefit the community.

The upcoming event called Áttits'í guts'íná-hí dídzínisà (Sharing for today) is an event like no other that will be an immersive experience that will explain this project and ask you to contribute your perspectives on themes such as home and identity, cultural pride, support and resilience to name a few.

This Project depends on you to share your voice, and I welcome you to come out to this first-of-its kind experience.

Sincerely,
Kendall Manyhorses
