

TSÚŪT'ÍNÀ XÀKÚAGHÁ

TSUUT'INA NATION HEAD CHIEF & MINOR CHIEFS

Exciting News: Property Acquisition in Progress

We are excited to announce that Tsuut'ina Nation is in the process of acquiring an extraordinary property that will serve as a cornerstone for growth, healing, and opportunity for our people.

The property, known as Our Lady Queen of Peace Ranch, is a 338-acre gem located in Bragg Creek, bordering our Tsuut'ina lands.

This is not just a land acquisition, it is the beginning of something truly transformative. With sweeping natural landscapes, a peaceful and restorative atmosphere, and existing facilities including over 40 tipis, equestrian grounds, recreational areas, and outdoor program spaces, this ranch offers unlimited potential for our Nation's future.

We see this as a place where our programs can flourish, from youth leadership and cultural education to land-based healing and trauma-informed wellness initiatives. It is a space where families can come together, where children can learn our ways on the land, and where individuals can find peace, renewal, and strength.

This acquisition will open the door to innovative programming, prevention services, and family reunification efforts that reflect our values, culture, and vision. It will be a gathering place, a teaching place, and above all, a healing place for our people today and for generations to come.

The leadership of Tsuut'ina Nation is united in our belief that this is one of the most exciting ventures in our recent history, a rare opportunity to invest in our collective wellness, cultural preservation, and long-term prosperity.

In the months ahead, we will share more about our plans and invite the Nation to be part of shaping the future of this incredible space. Together, we will ensure that the Ranch becomes a place of hope, healing, and opportunity for all Tsuut'ina.

Tsuut'ina Nation

Head Chief and Minor Chiefs

