MOCCASIN TELEGRAPH

Chief of Sarcee Indians, Canada. W.G.'5.

Our story starts without a specific time but as far back as it was remembered little chief was the leader of Tsuut'ina. He was said to be brave and strong and a leader in battle. It in his last battle for the people, he sustained an injury so great, little chief knew he would not survive. As he lay wounded, his brother bullhead came to his side. Little chief gave him his rifle, as a way to declare bullhead as the new chief of the Tsuut'ina people.

Joe big plume had many sisters, the eldest of which was married to Big Belly. Because of this relationship, bullhead appointed Big Belly as his successor and the new chief of the Tsuut'ina people. No one argued with chief's decision, they honored the chief and his direction. Big belly passed away in 1920 and for three years the Tsuut'ina nation was again without a chief.

In 1921 the Indian agency did not want a new chief complaining that head chiefs are a nuisance/trouble makers they also stated all money will now have no intervention from a head chief. So again the people were without a leader. The nation kept demanding to Dr. Murry from the Indian agency that they needed a head chief, this was also written in the treaties that a nation is entitled to have a head chief.

So in 1923 the Indian agency appointed minor chiefs which where like councilors at the time, Joe Big Plume was also appointed to be the new head chief for the nation. Years later on December, 1946 the order was given by the Indian agency to start holding elections and nominate a new chief and councilors.

- Paraphased from the document "A History of the Sarcee" by Charles Scheider, 1977

XAKIJI

As far back as our history tells, the title and role of the Chief was passed down through blood lines. If there was no one in the blood line that was able to be chief, the title would be passed down to a chosen successor.

The Tsuut'ina Government convened on January 6 - 10, 2020 for a Chief and Council orientation session that encompassed a full Nation review of all portfolios and projects to begin strategic planning for the Tsuut'ina Nation.

Strategy Session

Following the orientation, a strategy session was held on January 20-24 2020 to determine the priorities of the Tsuut'ina Nation for the fiscal year 2020-2021. Priorities are used for administrative work and budget planning across portfolios. The Chief and Council have drafted "Mandate Letters" for each portfolio that provide direction from Chief and Council in achieving the priorities

Budget Approval

Per the Tsuut'ina Finance Act there are annual deadlines for budget approvals. Tsuut'ina Treasury, Finance Controllers and the respective portfolio Management review budgets in alignment with the priorities. This is facilitated by the Executive body. The budget recommendations are then forwarded to the Tsuut'ina Chief and Council for the official Nation budget approval - 2020-2021 in February 2020.

Many factors are considered as the Chief and Council review portfolio information to plan for short and long terms goals and priorities. Incremental Nation building and sovereignty is key while service the needs of the people for a healthy Nation.

It is an exciting time for the Nation and we look forward to further announcements.

Heating Safety

There is something about the winter months and curling up with a good book by the fireplace. But did you know that heating equipment is one of the leading causes of home fire deaths? With a few simple safety tips and precautions you can prevent most heating fires from happening.

BE WARM AND SAFE THIS WINTER!

- Keep anything that can burn at least three-feet (one metre) away from heating equipment, like the furnace, fireplace, wood stove, or portable space heater.
- Have a three-foot (one metre) “kid-free zone” around open fires and space heaters.
- Never use your oven to heat your home.
- Have a qualified professional install stationary space heating equipment, water heaters or central heating equipment according to the local codes and manufacturer’s instructions.
- Have heating equipment and chimneys cleaned and inspected every year by a qualified professional.
- Remember to turn portable heaters off when leaving the room or going to bed.
- Always use the right kind of fuel, specified by the manufacturer, for fuel burning space heaters.
- Make sure the fireplace has a sturdy screen to stop sparks from flying into the room. Ashes should be cool before putting them in a metal container. Keep the container a safe distance away from your home.
- Test smoke alarms at least once a month.

Heating Equipment Smarts

Install wood burning stoves following manufacturer’s instructions or have a professional do the installation. All fuel-burning equipment should be vented to the outside to avoid carbon monoxide (CO) poisoning.

Install and maintain CO alarms to avoid the risk of CO poisoning. If you smell gas in your gas heater, do not light the appliance. Leave the home immediately and call your local fire department or gas company.

FACT
Half of home heating fires are reported during the months of December, January, and February.
